Relations With Panama Discussed by the Cabinet.

MR. WYNNE ESTIMATES

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL SUB-MITS THE FINAL FIGURES.

Recommendations Will Be Based on Actual Needs - Knight Templar Representative Presented.

The principal subject at the cabinet meetng today was the differences between this country and Panama over various questions arising in the canal strip. The quesand Secretary Taft, and they will take up and carefully consider the representations made by the republic of Panama. They have talked with the President, who has had talks with John Barrett, the United States minister to Panama, and Admiral Walker, chairman of the isthmian canal commission. It is the intention to settle the differences as much in favor of the contentions of Panama as it is possible for this country to go, but no agreement has yet been reached and nothing will be made public for a few days.

There were present at the meeting Secetaries Hay, Morton, Taft and Hitchcock, Attorney General Moody and Postmaster General Wynne. Secretary Taft talked with the President about the Panama situation, and so did Secretary Hay. When uation, and so did Secretary Hay. When Secretary Taft was asked about the probable action of the War Department in the reported marriage of John T. Smith, a member of the hospital corps of the army, stationed at Fort Mott, to a negro woman, he said that he knew nothing officially of the case. With a laugh he remarked: "I have not yet adopted the recommendations of General Corbin as to supervising the marriage of young army officers, without beginning to attempt the same thing as to the privates of the army."

to the privates of the army."

A good part of the cabinet meeting was consumed in hearing a report from Secretary Metcalf indicating what progress he had made toward carrying out the President's instructions respecting the officials involved in the General Slocum disaster.

Post Office Department Estimates. Postmaster General Wynne took up with he President the estimates of appropriaions for the Post Office Department, submitting to the President the final figures of the estimates. The Postmaster General, with a view to holding down the appropriawith a view to holding down the appropriations to bed-rock figures, carefully scrutinized and revised the estimates submitted to him by the chiefs of bureaus. Recommendations for the creation of new offices and for the increase of salaries have been disapproved in many instances. The result is, as viewed by the Postmaster General, that the figures to be submitted to Congress through the Treasury Department will call for just what the department needs for the proper transaction of its business. The total amount estimated for the needs

The total amount estimated for the needs of the department is $183,748,495, as against an appropriation for the current fiscal year of $170,845,998, the increase in the estimates of $170,840,398, the increase in the estimates for the ensuing year over the appropriation for the current year being $12,902,496.

"The closeness with which the figures have been scanned," said Mr. Wynne, "is shown in the fact that in the office of the Postmaster General, the assistant attorney general, the first, second, third and fourth assistants and in the topographical division the total increase over the present fiscal year asked from Congress is but $94,000. For the service in general, which means the service outside the city of Washington, the Postmaster General's force shows no increase. On the contrary, there is a reduc-tion of $5,000. In the office of the first as-sistant, where the salaries of postmasters sistant, where the salaries of postmasters and rentals are allowed, the increase, which is $2,937,300, is in exact proportion to the growth of business, based on previous experience, and the record, which shows about the percentage of new postmasters and additional post offices to be provided for. The increase in the bureau of the second ond assistant for the transportation of malls, is $2.552.771. This indicates the expected growth in the volume of mall matter to be handled during the next fiscal year. The total estimated for this office is year. The total estimated for this office is $76,928,500. The increase in the appropriation for the office of the third assistant, who has charge of the printing of stamps and stamped envelopes and of the accounts of the department, is only $130,000, the total being $1,866,500.

"The increase, estimated for the office of the fourth assistant includes $109,550 for post office inspectors, $1,171.575 for free de-livery service and $6,006,300 for rural free delivery service, a total increase of

.281,425.

Nearly the total deficiency which Congress will be asked to provide for the department for the current year is included in the amount of increase asked for rural free delivery."

Is Senator Spooner Sore?

Newspaper men and others at the White House who have for months been aware of the cordial relations that existed so long between President Roosevelt and Senator Spooner of Wisconsin have been immensely surprised at the statement made by him in New York yesterday as to the situation in

"The conditions are mixed, and it is not certain that the electoral ticket will be car-ried for the republicans. Much depends upon non-interference." Senator Spooner, throughout the entire session of Congress last winter, was re-peatedly called into conference with the President and became one of the four or five men whose advice as to republican policies was frequently accepted by the President. The expression which he has made in New York is thought to be due to the action of the republican national committee in recognizing the La Follette state committee in Wisconsin after the verdict of the supieme court of that state. The naof the supreme court of that state. The national committee turned over to the La Follette state committee the direction of republican speakers, and assented to that committee as being representative of the regular organization of the state. Senator Spooner and the men who have acted with him in opposition to La Follette are said to have felt this keenly, in view of their former close relations to prominent republications. mer close relations to prominent republi-cans, and the remarks of the Wisconsin cans, and the remarks of the Wisconsin senator are interpreted somewhat as a threat to the national committee.

The supposition is that Senator Spooner is so vitally interested in the local fight in Wisconsin as to consider it of greater importance to himself and his friends than the national ticket, and, while he has long ago announced that his faction will support President Roosevelt, he desires to convey a strong suggestion to the national committee that there must not be too much embracing and lovemaking between the La Follette people and the national committee. The fight in Wisconsin is so bitter that anything would be sacrificed by either side to defeat the other.

the other.

Senator Spooner has so long been regarded as a man of caution and extreme conservatism that it is a surprise that he would make a remark like that attributed to him even if he felt it. He may not have succeeded in impressing Chairman Cortelyou with his views, however, and may have made the remark in the hope that it would reach the right spot.

Mr. Theodore Stanton of the American chamber of commerce, Paris, lunched with the President yesterday. The Republican Prospects.

Representative John Dalzell of Pennsylvania and Representative Dwight of New York were among prominent republicans with the President yesterday. Mr. Dalzell has been making speeches for the republican party, and sees nothing but the brightest tions are in the hands of Secretary Hay prospects. "I have been in Ohio, West Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey,' remarked Mr. Dalzell, "and everywhere is the same sentiment, coneverywhere is the same sentiment, continuation of the republican party in power. Of course, Ohio is certain. West Virginia will undoubtedly go republican by a safe majority. As to the state ticket, I cannot speak with so much certainty. Connecticut will give Roosevelt 15,000 majority, New Jersey as much, and Rhode Island will give an unusually large majority. I think we shall elect both representatives in Rhode Island, and probably the governor. The outlook is good in every direction. I am told by responsible persons that New York will give a large majority for Roosevelt.

Representative Dwight is much more out-

RETRACTED THEIR PLEAS.

Men Indicted for Conspiracy Now Plead Guilty.

TRENTON, N. J., October 18.-J. H. Stone, H. B. Quintard, Charles W. Russ and James Russ of the Nonpareil Cork Works, Camden, who were indicted in the United States district court on the charge of conspiring against the United States government and prejudice to the government steamboat inspection laws because of seiling life preservers inside of which were pleces of iron, today retracted their plea of not guilty.

These men, through their counsel, have filed a demurrer and will fight the indict-ment on the ground that the indictment does not charge any offense of which they are guilty. It is claimed in their defense that their goods were sold in the open mar-ket and were not made directly for the gov-ernment, and that therefore there was no conspiracy against the government as charged in the indictment.

THE TIBETAN INDEMNITY. Terms Demanded by British-China's

Opposition. LONDON, October 18 .- The demand of Great Britain of an indemnity of $3,750,000 from the Tibetans appears likely to lead to a prolonged British occupation of the Chumbi valley. The Tibetans declared their inability to pay the indemnity within the three years first stipulated, and Great Britain has now proposed that the payments be made at the rate of $50,000 yearly and that until the whole sum is paid the British retain possession of this valley, which is the key to Tibet.

The Tibetans are said to approve of the proposal, but China's opposition to the ratification of the treaty is increasing, causing fears that the Dalai Lama and his Russian associate may be induced to re-turn to Lhassa and upset the British cal-
